

To Whom It May Concern: I do not believe it is prudent or in the best interest of the public to change the current rules regarding ownership of broadcasting companies. I think the American people deserve to have as many perspectives as possible. I do not believe this will happen if a few large conglomerates own the airwaves. Please consider this in making your decision regarding our right to information.

Anne Armstrong